

COMMITTED TO THE INDUSTRY

Supporting Industry Associations

Veritext is a proud supporter of national and state court reporting associations and is thrilled to be an official NCRA Industry Advocate and Corporate Partner. As the industry leader, we believe that actively advocating for these associations and endorsing their high standards for quality service, education and ethics, as well as the application of state-of-the-art technologies, are essential to improving awareness of the role of the certified court reporter as experts in their field.

Inspiring the Next Generation

Veritext believes that a key component to the preservation of the industry is to provide scholarship and educational opportunities to incoming and enrolled students. One of the ways we contribute to this ambitious effort is by supporting industry foundations and organizations such as ProjectSteno and the National Court Reporting Foundation (NCRF) in their efforts to cultivate the profession and inspire the next generation of court reporters.
